Introduction

Total headcount enrollment at public colleges and universities has increased over the past 10 years. In some cases, policies and programs have been implemented in order to encourage the enrollment of certain types of students. The purpose of this report is to examine enrollment trends by student characteristics to see which students are taking advantage of higher education opportunities and to better understand if policies intended to increase enrollment among certain populations are having the desired effect.

Due to differences in the characteristics of students attending university main campuses and their affiliated regional campuses, enrollment counts for these institutions are reported separately for each campus. As a result, the figures are “duplicated” given that students often attend multiple campuses.

Undergraduate students make up roughly 89% of all public college enrollments in Ohio. Undergraduate enrollment increased from 388,611 in fall 2001 to 499,030 in fall 2010 – a 28% increase. Graduate and professional enrollment increased from 54,375 in fall 2001 to 62,103 in fall 2010 – a 14% increase. Enrollment of high school students taking college courses more than doubled from 9,383 in fall 2001 to 19,182 in fall 2010. Note: High school students taking college courses often take courses in terms other than fall. To get a more accurate picture of high school students’ enrollment patterns, other reports by the Board of Regents present annualized counts which are considerably higher than the numbers presented here

Ohio has a policy interest in increasing college enrollment and degree attainment rates among older students, especially undergraduates. The number of students aged 25 and older has increased from 122,997 in fall 2001 to 170,198 in fall 2010 – a 38% increase. Undergraduate students aged 25 and older now make up 34% of all undergraduate enrollments compared to 32% in fall 2001. As expected, graduate and professional students tend to be considerably older than undergraduate students, with 73% of graduate and professional students in the 25 and older age group.

When comparing sectors (university main campuses, university regional campuses, and community colleges), one of the most striking differences is the age distribution of students. The percentage of undergraduate students who are 25 and older is 51% at community colleges, 37% at university regional campuses, and 18% at university main campuses.

Notes:

- Enrollments for multi-campus community colleges (Cuyahoga Community College, Owens State Community College, and Southern State Community College) are reported at the "whole institution" level, not separately by campus. Students attending more than one campus of those institutions are counted only once. This is a change from prior reporting practices, which will cause differences between the enrollment numbers in this report compared to those in reports published in prior years.
- Enrollments at multi-campus universities (University of Akron, Bowling Green State University, University of Cincinnati, Kent State University, Miami University, Ohio University, Ohio State University, and Wright State University) are reported at the campus level, with duplication. Students attending two campuses in the same term are counted twice.

Notes:

1. Enrollments for multi-campus community colleges (Cuyahoga Community College, Owens State Community College, and Southern State Community College) are reported at the "whole institution" level, not separately by campus. Students attending more than one campus of those institutions are counted only once. This is a change from prior reporting practices, which will cause differences between the enrollment numbers in this report compared to those in reports published in prior years.
2. Enrollments at multi-campus universities (University of Akron, Bowling Green State University, University of Cincinnati, Kent State University, Miami University, Ohio University, Ohio State University, and Wright State University) are reported at the campus level, with duplication. Students attending two campuses in the same term are counted twice.

Notes:

1. Enrollments for multi-campus community colleges (Cuyahoga Community College, Owens State Community College, and Southern State Community College) are reported at the "whole institution" level, not separately by campus. Students attending more than one campus of those institutions are counted only once. This is a change from prior reporting practices, which will cause differences between the enrollment numbers in this report compared to those in reports published in prior years.

2. Enrollments at multi-campus universities (University of Akron, Bowling Green State University, University of Cincinnati, Kent State University, Miami University, Ohio University, Ohio State University, and Wright State University) are reported at the campus level, with duplication. Students attending two campuses in the same term are counted twice.
