School Nurse is not reviewed by CAEP

- Programs that are "Add-On" and require just Standard A.1.1.
  Add-on programs are defined as programs designed for educators who hold valid teaching licensure and are seeking to add additional teaching field(s), and for programs that lead to licensure, but for which the licensing authority (e.g., state or country) does not require completion of a supervised internship for eligibility. These programs do not lead to a degree, but may lead to a certificate. Add-on programs require a licensure examination or an assessment of candidate proficiency to understand and apply knowledge and skills in the specialty licensure area that provides access to employment in a P-12 setting. They are reviewed under CAEP Standard A.1, component A.1.1, and require the EPP to submit evidence of candidate content knowledge documented by state licensure test scores and other proficiency measures. (From Version 1.1 CAEP Advanced Standards Handbook) endorsements completed with the initial license would not fall into add-on because the candidate does not hold a valid teaching license.

Post-bac or graduate licensure programs that require an initial license for admission are second licensure programs and fall under the Add-On category.
