

Collaborative Capital Appropriations

In 2011, Governor John Kasich challenged Ohio's higher education leaders to work together and re-design the capital allocation process. The result is a collaborative process that promotes strategic and dynamic capital investments aligned with statewide priorities, rather than relying on a formula to determine capital allocations.

Featured Projects

$10M Columbus State Community College School of Hospitality Management and Culinary Arts	$4M Sinclair Community College Unmanned Aerial Systems Training Center	$16M Stark State College + Zane State College Energy Industry Training Center
$24M Miami University Supporting STEM and Healthcare Education	$5M Cincinnati State Technical & Comm. College Center for Workforce Innovation & Education	$3M Northwest State Community College Advanced Manufacturing Training Center
$4M Lorain County Community College Health Sciences Talent Development Center	$2M Lorain County Community College SMART Center for Commercialization	$12M Wright State University Neuroscience Engineering Collaboration
		$6M Belmont College Health and Sciences Center
		$13M Cleveland State University College of Engineering Partnership with Parker Hannifin

Strategic Investment Themes

- Maintenance and Repair
- Public-Private Partnerships
- Workforce Development & Career Opportunities
- Interdisciplinary Approaches
- Enhancing Technology
- Modernizing Classrooms
- Reducing Campus Operating Expenses
- Student Success and Completion