Ohio Educator Preparation Provider at Miami University

Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2014 to Aug 31, 2015
(Data Source: Ohio Department of Education)

Description of Data:

February 2016 Note: Ohio Teacher Evaluation System results for the 2015 Report are not yet available. Revised Educator Preparation Performance Reports will be published when these data become available.

Ohio's system for evaluating teachers (Ohio's Teacher Evaluation System) provides educators with a detailed view of their performance, with a focus on specific strengths and opportunities for improvement. The system is research-based and designed to be transparent, fair, and adaptable to the specific contexts of Ohio's school districts. Furthermore, it builds on what educators know about the importance of ongoing assessment and feedback as a powerful vehicle to support improved practice. Teacher performance and student academic growth are the two key components of Ohio's evaluation system.

Limitations of the Ohio Teacher Evaluation System (OTES) Data:

1. The information in the report is for those individuals receiving their licenses with effective years of 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014.
2. The teacher evaluation data in this report are provided by the Ohio Department of Education.
3. Due to Ohio law, results must be masked for institutions with fewer than 10 completers with OTES data.

Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2013 to Aug 31, 2014
(Data Source: USDOE Title II Report)

Description of Data:

Ohio educator licensure requirements include passage of all requisite licensure examinations at the state determined cut score. The reported results reflect Title II data, and therefore represent pass rate data solely for initial licenses.

Further, because the data are gathered from the Title II reports, there is a one year lag in accessing the data. Teacher licensure pass rate data are the only reported metric for which the data do not reflect the reporting year 2014-2015.

Value-Added Data for Students Taught by Teachers Prepared by Ohio Educator Preparation Providers at Miami University

Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2014 to Aug 31, 2015

Description of Data:

February 2016 Note: Value-Added results for the 2015 Report are not yet available. Revised Educator Preparation Performance Reports will be published when these data become available.

Ohio's value-added data system provides information on student academic gains. As a vital component of Ohio's accountability system, districts and educators have access to an extensive array of diagnostic data through the Education Value-Added Assessment System (EVAAS). Schools can demonstrate through value-added data that many of their students are achieving significant progress. Student growth measures also provide students and parents with evidence of the impact of their efforts. Educators and schools further use value-added data to inform instructional practices.

Limitations of the Value-Added Data:

1. The information in the report is for those individuals receiving their licenses with effective years of, 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014.
2. The value-added data in this report are those reported by Ohio's Education Value-Added Assessment System (EVAAS) based on reading and mathematics achievement tests in grades 4-8.
3. For Educator Preparation Providers with fewer than 10 linked teachers or principals with value-added data, only the number (N) is reported.

Excellence and Innovation Initiatives

Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2014 to Aug 31, 2015
(Data Source: Miami University)

Description of Data:

This section reflects self-reported information from Ohio Educator Preparation Providers on a maximum of three initiatives geared to increase excellence and support innovation in the preparation of Ohio educators.

Teacher Preparation Programs

Initiative:	Miami HELPS Project
Purpose:	increase teacher education clinical placements
Goal:	provide partnership teacher mentors with technology tools to improve the immediacy of their evaluation of teacher candidates' literacy instruction, implement the use of a feedback rubric to provide focused and targeted feedback to improve literacy instruction, improve MCE students' comprehension.
Strategy:	This proposal responds to national, state, and institutional needs to increase teacher education clinical placements in order to improve teacher candidates' effectiveness. In addition, it supports Miami University's desire to strengthen our teacher preparation program by experimenting with a new model of field placement supervision. Our project, entitled Miami HELPS (Helping Educators with Literacy Partnerships in Schools), includes innovative methods to strengthen clinical field experiences and focuses on three key aspects: Improving teacher candidates' literacy instruction in the content areas; enhancing clinical placements through providing our partnership teacher mentors with technological tools, such as a feedback app, to improve the immediacy of their feedback to their teacher candidates; and improving middle school students' comprehension of grade level text. By concentrating on these three key focus areas, we aim to increase the clinical rich experiences provided through Miami's teacher education program while transforming education in urban public schools.
Demonstration of Impact:	Teacher candidates will be given pre- and post-surveys to examine their understanding of the implementation of literacy instruction. In addition, teacher candidates will be surveyed on the usefulness of the feedback process. Data will be analyzed from the feedback rubric to determine if the teacher mentor and the Miami faculty rubric scores are aligned by the end of the gradual release model. In addition, teacher mentors will complete a survey to provide feedback on the usefulness of the technology tools, the training process, and the time needed using the tools. Middle school students will be given pre- and post-surveys that provide data regarding their understanding of how to use literacy skills while reading grade level text. All data will be analyzed and shared professionally.
Programs:	Early Childhood and Reading

Initiative:	Diversifying Teacher Education Candidates at Miami
Purpose:	Diversifying the teaching pool
Goal:	Increase the numbers of students of color entering teacher education at Miami University
Strategy:	This proposal responds to national, state and institutional needs to create pathways to diversify the teaching pool. Six initiatives representing multiple approaches to diversify the undergraduate candidate populations in teacher licensure programs at Miami University are included. Three directly impact students of color, two provide professional development initiatives for faculty, and one includes site visits by faculty to model programs. Collectively, the project is carefully constructed to provide a range of immediate actions to benefit students, as well as initiatives that focus on exploring strategies to provide a blueprint for future actions. The projects provides opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration; the two professional development initiatives will be open to faculty in teacher licensure programs at Miami, including teacher education, special education, music education, and art education. The proposal also reflects Miami's four core diversity area: recruitment, retention, curriculum, and culture.

Ohio Educator Preparation Provider Performance Report

Miami University

Demonstration of Impact: The numbers of students participating in the initiatives, and the numbers of students participating in the initiatives who go on to matriculate to college are the measures related to recruitment. Tracking of students of color through program benchmarks, including student teaching and graduating with licensure will measure retention. The faculty mentor and summer immersion instructor will also provide reflective feedback. The faculty learning community and site visit initiatives will also address curriculum; their assessments will be included in written evaluations at the end of the initiatives. Campus culture will be addressed in four initiatives?two with students (mentoring and summer immersion) and two with faculty (learning community and site visits).
