

Fall Submission Workshop Hospitality, Tourism, and Culinary Arts

Lorain County Community College

October 26, 2018

10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Post-secondary faculty are invited to attend discipline-specific CTAG submission workshops. Sessions this fall will be offered around the state focusing on six different discipline areas.

At the workshop faculty participants will:

- Meet with colleagues from around the state*
- Help bring your institution into alignment with statewide CTAGs!*
- Learn how secondary students earn CTAG credit and how this credit may provide an opportunity for increased enrollment in your programs.*
- Learn how to apply for funding to host a regional professional development opportunity for your discipline/career field.

Funding Opportunities for Professional Development

Engage in discussion with faculty from Hospitality, Tourism, and Culinary Arts programs around the state, and learn about how your institution can take part in shaping the future of your profession by participating in the creation of professional development.

There is a need for connections between secondary and post-secondary pathways and a demand to recognize the role industry plays as well. Dedicated and talented faculty are needed to spearhead these connections through meaningful professional development.

Learn how you can get involved on October 26th

*The selection process provides a limited number of competitive awards for those institutions who participate, are compliant, and who collaborate regionally.
